

LGL 2140 Interviewing and Investigation for the Legal Professional

This course will provide an in-depth study of criminal investigations. Established investigative policies, procedures and techniques currently utilized in law enforcement, as well as, modern investigative tools will be introduced as the core elements of successful police investigations. The foregoing elements will be applied to the investigation of violent crimes, crimes against property, terrorism and other emergency criminal challenges to the investigator.

1 Credit